

About Marc Carrier

Marc Carrier is an evangelist, author, church planter, foreign missionary, Bible teacher, leadership trainer, and homeschooling father of 6 (soon 7).

Marc has written The Values Driven Life: Accelerated Growth for the Christian Soul, a book for motivating the saints to fruitfulness. Marc has also co-authored with his wife, Cindy, two parenting resources: The Values Driven Family: A Proactive Plan for Successful Biblical Parenting and Values Driven Discipleship: Biblical Instruction and Character Training Manual.

Marc co-pastors a network of church plants in the greater Indianapolis area. He has trained about a hundred pastors in Kenya and will be moving there with his family to continue the church planting and Kingdom expansion work in that country.

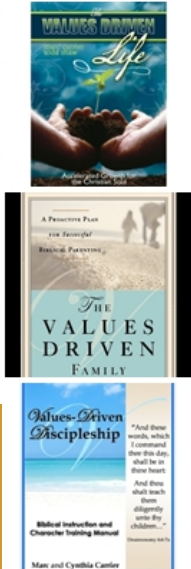

Marc has been featured on numerous radio programs such as SRN News, Concerned Women for America, KLOVE, and others. Marc has also appeared on LeSea's The Harvest Show and is a contributing author for several Christian publications.

Challenge and Inspire the Saints to Obedience and Action

Capture the potential hidden in your congregation!

to be motivated to action.

Marc wants to come along side of you in your efforts to challenge and inspire the saints. Using the Word of God and numerous engaging stories, Marc encourages seriousness for Kingdom work. His style is personal and encouraging, yet direct. He teaches it as it's written, pulling no punches.

Marc is not a preacher, but rather a gifted Bible teacher. He motivates through the authority of the Word, presented for the audience to receive what the Lord intends. His teachings and messages are always anointed, hitting the target with marksman's precision.

You can anticipate conviction, heart change, and action following one of Marc's powerful teachings. No word is wasted and no stone left unturned. Marc will teach the unadulterated truth of God's Word—expect results!

The Kingdom's secret weapon is its "sleeper Christians"—thousands of saints warming the pews every Sunday, ready

In the Home

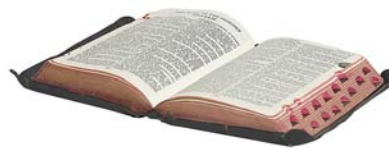

Marc is a hands-on subject matter expert when it comes to family matters. A joyfully married father of 6 (soon 7), Marc has authored multiple books on biblical parenting; Marc can speak from the heart and from the Word concerning God's design for the home and family.

A Project Management Professional (PMP) and an instructor for professional certification in management for years, Marc is also well-versed in management principles, communication, budgets, schedules, and decision making. Marc delivers very practical workshops on home management with a spiritual angle.

In the Church

Marc's greatest passion is discipleship—challenging all believers to "get to the next level" in their walk with Christ. God's Word is emphasized and obedience is the theme, but in such a simple and encouraging manner that all are motivated to action.

Marc also enjoys sharing his knowledge of New Testament practices. He teaches the organic, yet oft-overlooked principles taught and modeled by Christ and the Apostles in the early church. Discussion topics include leadership, fellowship, the Lord's Supper, interactive meetings, discipleship, early church practices, and more. Help your congregation discover the rich and rewarding principles of unity and community that are presented in God's Word.

In the Field

Marc is also a gifted evangelist and foreign missionary—not just making converts, but rather disciples. Marc will explain the biblical Great Commission and provide simple, practical, reproducible tips and methods to seek and save the lost. An emphasis of Marc's unique approach is that salvation is not "the end;" rather, it is a means to an end. Your congregation will be challenged and inspired to fulfill Christ's command to make disciples and teach them to obey.

Without a doubt, Marc will fire up the saints to get serious about Kingdom expansion!

"The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest field." (Matthew 9:37-38)
